

View From the Cheap Seats

Monday, May 23, 2016

Album Spotlight: Diana Rein: The Long Road

Diana Rein, the self-proclaimed Six String Siren, has a new album, The Long Road. As Rein was responsible for all of the songs and all of the instrumentation on the record, this 18 month long "labor of love" is unashamedly and unabashedly all Diana Rein all the time.

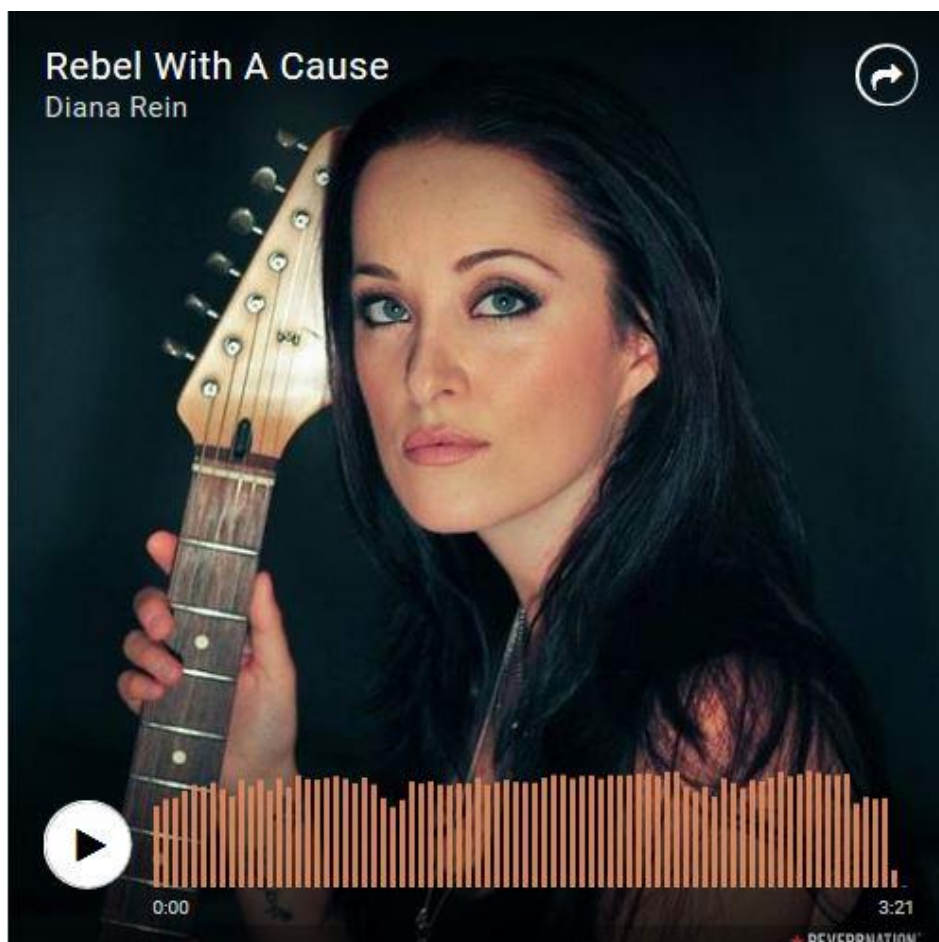

And that's a good thing.

It's blues. It's rock. It's sultry. It's sweaty. It's good music.

While honing her craft by watching videos of her favorite artists, Rein, through many hours of practice, has carved out her own sound.

If you're a blues purist, this won't be for you, but if you're like me and like a little rock and pop and country in you blues, your can't go wrong with this album.

Check out "Rebel With A Cause" from the album.

<http://cheapseatreport.blogspot.com/2016/05/album-spotlight-diana-rein-long-road.html>